1. Review Strategic Planning Workplan Template with PPL

Work group leaders should consider any pre-reading their groups should do. An email to all participants including schedule, pre-reading, and team rosters will go out on Friday.

PPL provided an overview presentation of the strategic planning process – it is both about reflecting on what Butte College does well and dreaming about what could be done in the future. They reviewed the work plan template that work group leaders will use to capture the ideas generated in each group. Some columns may initially be left blank. For shared vocabulary – the strategic plan indicates the initiatives and the objectives; the groups are determining the strategies to fulfil them.

PPL will be available 9am-12pm in the SAS 339 conference room on March 7 for work group leaders who have questions about the strategic planning process.

2. Discuss Strategic Planning Process Logistics

Each work group will meet in an assigned classroom and have access to a computer/projector and white board. A shared document will be created for work group leaders to report out at the end of the first day (the report out should consist of four things the group identified that Butte College is doing well and two ideas for future action). At the start of the second day, group leaders will share the report out with their team. College Council reviewed the strategic planning schedule.
